Perspective . . . the ability to see the true relationship of objects or events to one another

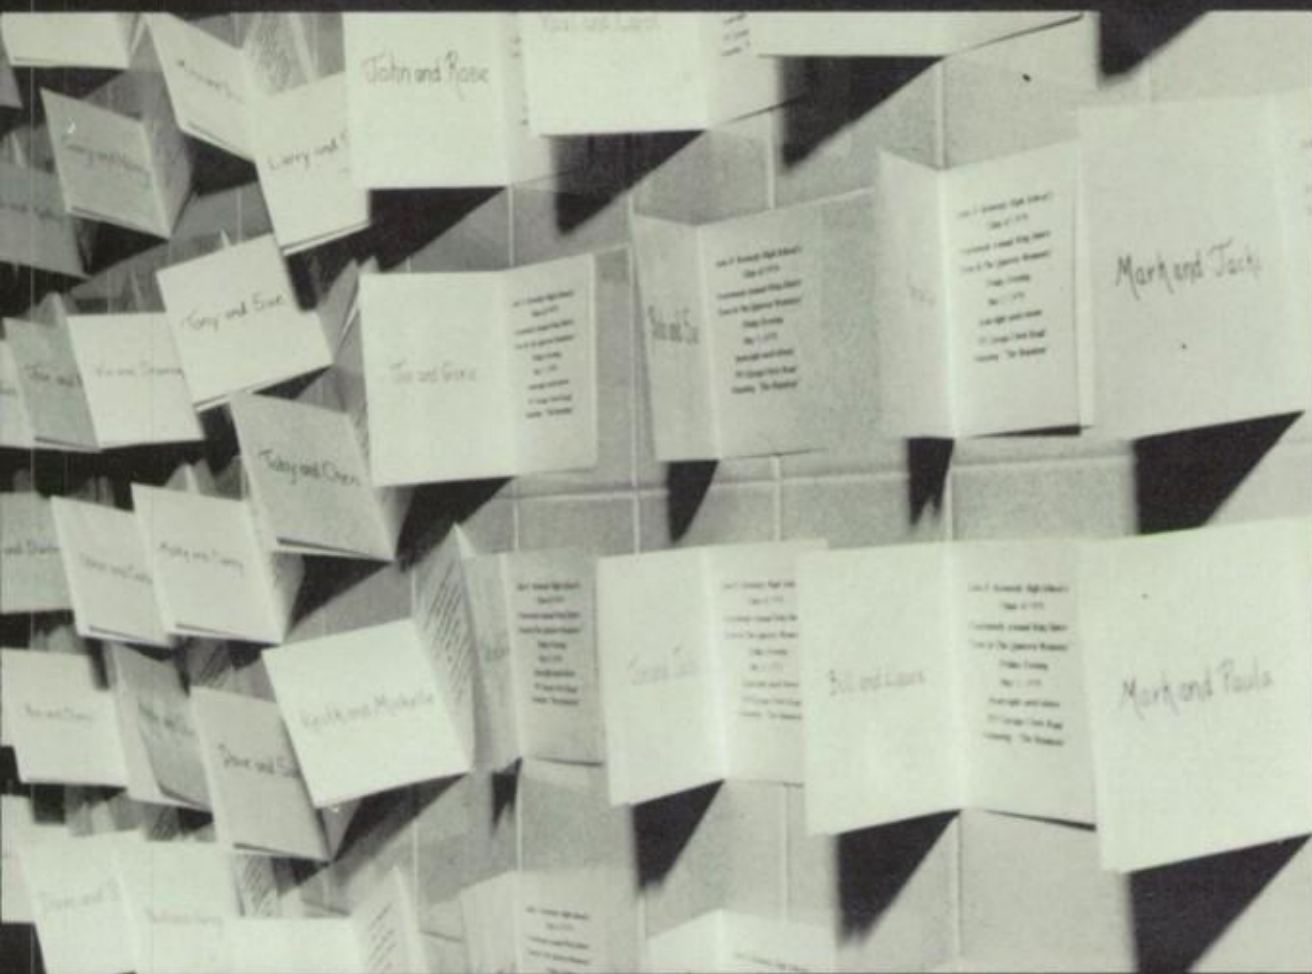

What we see as an obstacle is nothing more than our own inability to see something from someone else's point of view

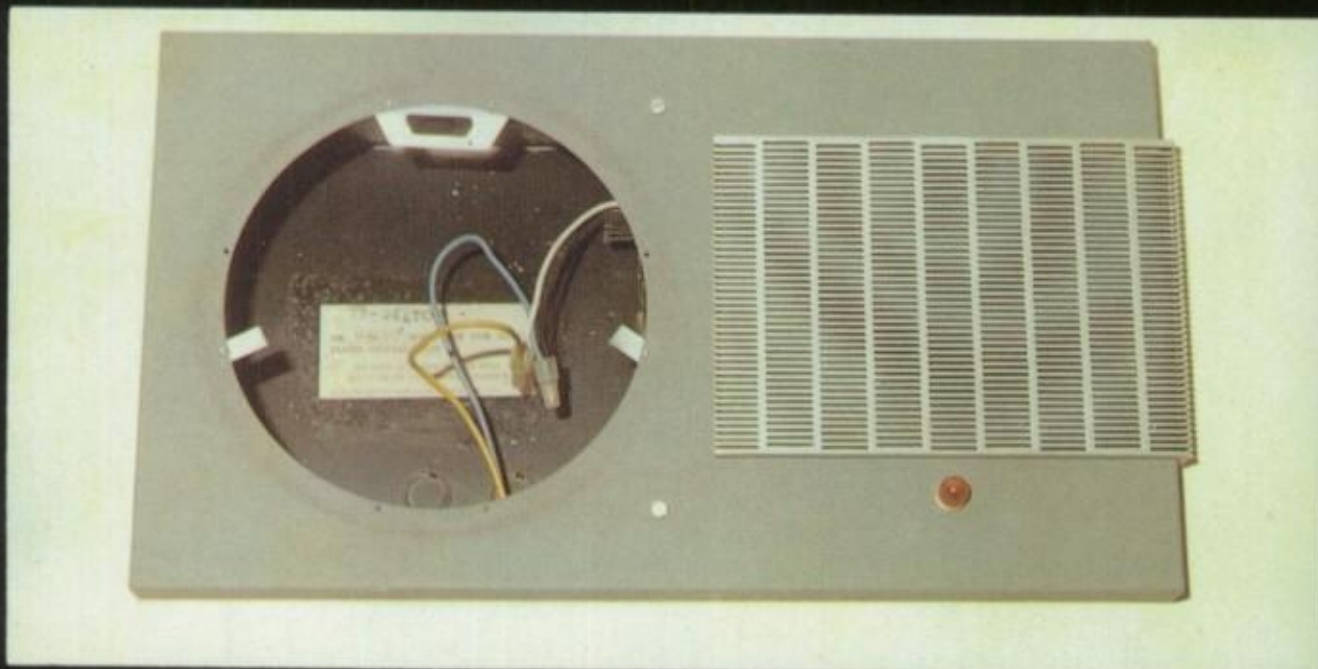

Everything has an importance, a place of its own. It is not the individual thing that is important; it is rather the blend. The mixture of elements enables us to have a true perspective on life!

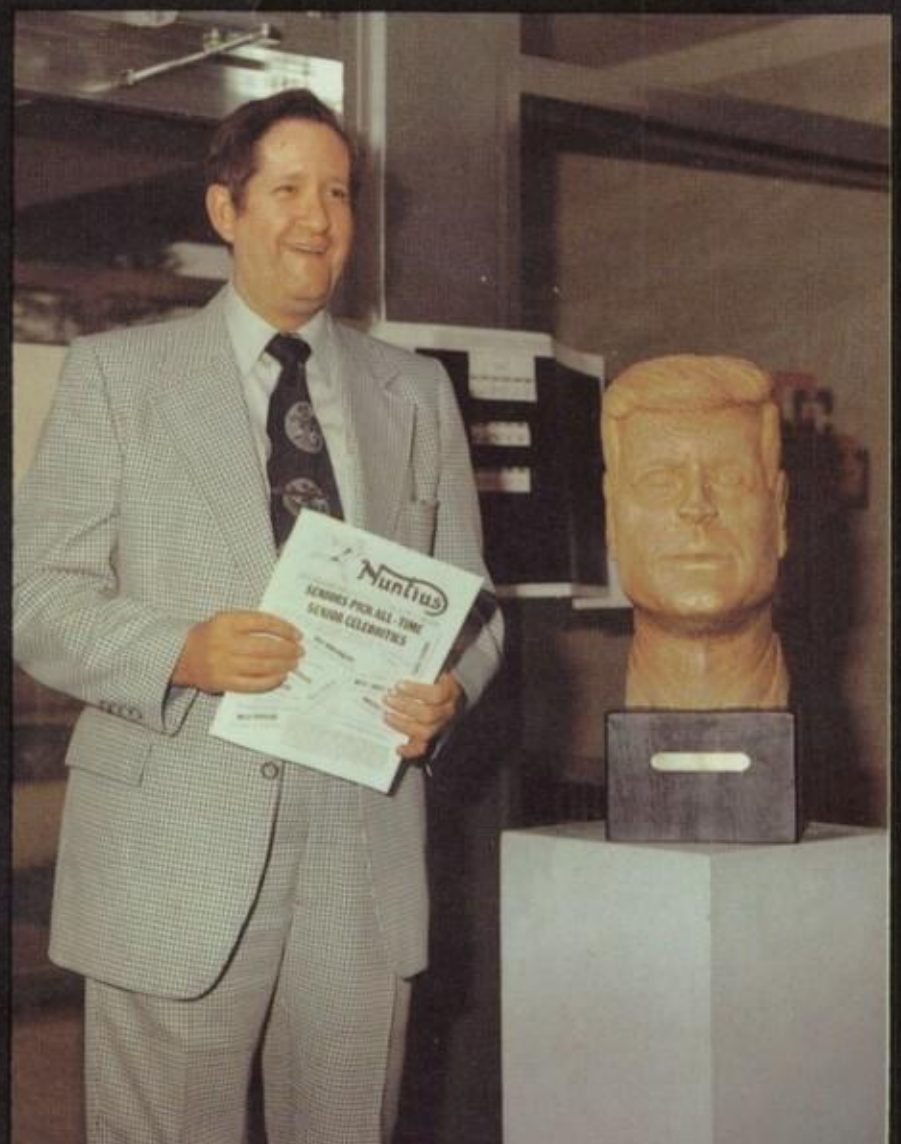

Without the proper communication and organization one is unable to perceive the true relationship between ideas

Dedication

We, the 1979 graduating class of John F. Kennedy, are proud and happy to dedicate the 1979 FORUM to our teacher of French, Mr. Meloon. We would like to take this opportunity to thank him for the contributions he has made to his students and fellow man, enabling us to become healthy, intelligent, and God-fearing citizens of our country. He gives his extra time for the NUNTIUS, our school paper, he plans trips to France, and makes everyone feel they've got a friend. Mr. Meloon will be a part of all of us in our new lives as graduates because of the many things that he has taught us that will reflect on our destinies.

"How far away is the Temple of Fame?"
Said a youth at the dawn of the day.
He toiled and strove for a deathless
name;

The hours went by, and the evening
came,

Leaving him old and feeble and lame,
To plod on his cheerless way.

"How far away is the Temple of Good?"
Said another youth at the dawn of day.
He toiled in the spirit of brotherhood,
To help and succor, as best he could,
The poor and unfortunate multitude,
In its hard and cheerless way.

He was careless alike of praise or blame.
But after his work was done,
An Angel of Glory from Heaven came,
And wrote on high his immortal name,
To proclaim that - the Temple of Fame
And the Temple of Good are one.

For this is the lesson that history
Has taught since the world began:
That those whose memories never die,
But shine like stars in the human sky,
And brighter grow as the years go by,
Are the men who live for man.

— Author Unknown

The school year is at an end and this portion of your formal educational process is coming to a conclusion. It is my sincere wish to you, the Class of '79, that the school has indeed provided you with a perspective for life.

As we part at the end of this school year, each to proceed his or her individual way, I should like to leave you with a verse I read while in high school which gave me a direction for life and served me well over the years.

Mr. Henry Zwierzchowski Principal

I was gratified that the students chose the idea of perspective. Since this is my first message as your principal, the idea of perspective blends well with my philosophy of what our school is and should be.

A school should be a place that helps the student to better perceive the world around him. The school should be a place that helps us to understand other people, other cultures, and other ways of thinking. Viewed in perspective, which means seen in proper relationship to each other, we maintain a proper balance between things. It is important that we do view things in perspective in order to maintain proper balance. If one group or object is too heavily emphasized, that balance is destroyed and another group or object must be shortchanged as a result. The purpose of an education and therefore a school, as a means of education, is to help see things in balance; that is in proper perspective.

A school should have a balanced approach to education. This is what we are striving for at John F. Kennedy High School.

Mr. Dennis Piekarski

Assistant Principal

One of our teachers recently said our school is like a bank. I think the theme of the yearbook perspective shows this. You only have a balance in a bank if you make a deposit. That is if you put something into it then you can draw on what you put in plus interest. Perspective to me means looking at things in their proper position and their relationship to each other. A student can build a big account by giving a lot of himself or herself to our school and will be able to draw forth a great deal on his or her experience in school. The more he or she is willing to give of him or her the richer our school will become for everyone.

Suzanne Hartke, Lawrence Hajduk

Sheryl Imbs

The Language Arts Department endeavors to give students a new perspective by presenting the literature of identity which shows man as he is and as he strives to be. The department, while presenting literary knowledge has shown students how to see themselves through literature.

SOCIAL STUDIES

Fred Zelasko, Norman Pyzikiewicz, Walter Ward

Daniel Gasiewicz, Diana Maly

Social Studies can help us to gain a greater perspective in the comprehension of various cultures and difference of life. World Cultures and Afro-Asian Studies stress the study and appreciation of other persons to modern society while American History emphasizes greater understanding of our heritage by studying those people and events which shaped our nation. Seeking causes in the past for current events the Social Studies Department traces the development of man and society from early days to modern times.

MATHEMATICS

Thomas LaPenna

Carolyn Maslona

Richard Andrzejewski, Kathleen Herman

Edward Fialkiewicz

The cooperation of students and teachers alike make mathematics a learning experience instead of just another class. Since math is used in both college and everyday life, the math department has provided a variety of courses to provide students for future use of mathematical skills.

SCIENCE

Patricia Schupbach, Rita Domhart

Anita Molenda

Various courses offered to students allowed many aspects of science to be explored thereby bringing into perspective the scientific world. Courses in Biology, Chemistry, and Earth Science offer the student a chance to learn the basics of Anatomy and Physiology.

Robert Bratton, Susan Sullivan, Ralph Simme

BUSINESS

Presenting the student with the opportunity to gain a basic understanding of the Business Department attempts to provide a blend of theory and practical mechanics of business management. These mechanics enable the students to gain the implements he needs to deal with the complexities of the business world and at the same time to comprehend the fundamentals of business practices.

The word "Guidance" means "help and direction to a troubled soul." The Guidance department strives to keep the overflow of problems to a minimum. Such obstacles encountered are PSAT's, SAT's achievement tests, and college applications, all expertly handled in a day's work.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE AND LIBRARY

The windows of the world are opened through Foreign Language. Languages broaden a person's aspects of a particular language. They also assist in further comprehending and appreciating the culture. This way students learn not only a language but a culture as well.

BROWN
I know I've been pushing and biting you
you plus getting your net with water but that's over now good luck till next year Jens P.S. I still wonder how you plowed
through the door

To Brown
one who can't let
for shut predictions hardly write who lets everybody pick on him good luck for next year
from Jol and
anon

Brown

A good friend I really never got to know you that good but you were nice to talk to, maybe next year we can get to know each other better
good lucky.
